

Pasture Preparation and Renovation Programs

March 12, 1 p.m., Marshalltown

March 20, 6 p.m., Osceola

March 27, noon, webinar, <https://go.iastate.edu/TFXGFI>

Have drought conditions and overgrazing left your pastures in rough shape? Join ISU specialists to talk through some strategies to meet your herd's nutritional needs and optimize pasture productivity this year.

March 12, 1 to 2:30 p.m., Marshall County Extension Office, 2608 S 2nd St., Marshalltown.

Please RSVP to Chelsea Llewellyn by March 11: email chelsea@iastate.edu, phone 641-752-1551 or text 515-344-3756.

March 20, 6 to 7:30 pm, Clarke County Fairgrounds and Events Center, 2070 W. Mclane St., Osceola.

Please RSVP to Carolyn White: email white2@iastate.edu or phone 641-342-3316.

ISU extension beef specialist Chris Clark will lead these two in-person meetings.

March 27, noon to approximately 1 p.m. via webinar. Please use the following link to register: <https://go.iastate.edu/TFXGFI>

Webinar will feature three speakers:

Chris Clark, ISU extension beef specialist: drought scenario, pasture conditions, nutritional needs of lactating cows.

Clarabell Probasco, ISU extension crop specialist: interseeding, pasture renovation, weed control and soil fertility.

Shelby Gruss, ISU extension forage specialist: using summer annuals as alternative / supplemental forage crops.

For more information or additional questions, contact Chris Clark at caclark@iastate.edu or by phone at 712-250-0070.
